

NAME LANSING TO SUCCEED BRYAN

President Announces Appointment Before Going to New Hampshire

GIVES SATISFACTION

Members of Cabinet Are Unanimous in their Recommendation of Counselor

HAS NO POLITICAL BACKING

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Robert Lansing, who as counselor of the state department has advised President Wilson in law and precedent in the policy pursued by the United States toward belligerent governments since the outbreak of the European war, was named today secretary of state, to succeed William Jennings Bryan.

Gives Widespread Satisfaction. Few appointments in recent years have given such widespread satisfaction in the national capital. Mr. Lansing is a lifelong democrat, but he has devoted his time to international law and diplomacy and is as popular with former republican officials as with his colleagues. Members of the cabinet who talked with the president on the subject were unanimous in their recommendation that he should be appointed.

Colonel E. M. House and other close personal friends of the president advised the selection and Mr. Bryan himself, although not consulted, is understood to have hoped for the promotion of Mr. Lansing. Issues Statement From White House. Official announcement of the selection of Mr. Lansing, who has been serving as secretary ad interim since the resignation of Mr. Bryan on June 8, was made in the following statement issued from the White House at 6 o'clock tonight.

"Before leaving this evening for a brief rest in New Hampshire, the president announced that he had offered the post of secretary of state to Mr. Robert Lansing, the present counselor of the department of state, and that Mr. Lansing had accepted the appointment."

A commission was prepared which, giving Mr. Lansing a recess appointment. When congress reconvenes, the nomination will go to the senate. No opposition to his confirmation is anticipated.

Has No Political Backing.

One of the peculiar circumstances in connection with Mr. Lansing's appointment is the fact that he personally has no political backing or influence. Succeeding William Jennings Bryan, foremost among the leaders of the democratic party, a comparatively unknown quantity in the political world has been ushered into the premiership of the cabinet.

This very fact, indeed, commended itself to the president's advisers as the reason for the appointment of a man of Mr. Lansing's experience and ability, the argument being advanced that at so critical a time in the nation's history the people of the United States wished all political conditions subordinated. Mr. Lansing takes office thoroughly familiar with the personnel and organization of the department of state, conversant with confidential details of all the important negotiations conducted by the United States since the Wilson administration began. Moreover, he has a wide knowledge of policies under previous administrations and an especially intimate acquaintance with Mexican affairs and far eastern problems.

Is Native of Watertown.

Mr. Lansing is 51 years old, a native of Watertown, N. Y., and a descendant of the family of John Lansing, who represented New York in the constitutional convention of 1787 at Philadelphia and later was chancellor of the state of New York. After graduation from Amherst college in 1886, Mr. Lansing chose the profession of his father and ancestors, the law, and continued in private practice except when retained by the American government or foreign nations in important cases. He enjoys the distinction of having represented the United States in more international arbitrations than any living American, and a French authority recently wrote that Mr. Lansing probably had had a longer and broader experience in international arbitration and had appeared more frequently before international tribunals than any living lawyer.

Mr. Lansing was one of the founders of the American society of international law and has written a book on constitutional law. He has associated for years with diplomats at home and abroad and is well liked by members of the diplomatic corps here.

TRAMP STEALS SON'S DOG; DUNNE SIGNS BILL

APPROVES MEASURE MAKING THEFT OF CANNINES LARCENY

Hearings on Three Bills are Fixed for Next Monday—List of Measures Approved by Governor.

Springfield, Ill., June 23.—The bill feathered by Representative Robert Scholes of Peoria (H. B. 395) making the theft of a dog larceny came to the attention of Governor Dunne at the psychological moment this morning. The governor had just been informed by a heart-wrenched junior member of his family that a tramp who had been fed at the back door of the executive mansion had stolen the only dog attached to the establishment.

"Such an offense is an outrage," remarked the governor, affixing his approval to the bill immediately after looking it over. Hearings have been fixed for next Monday by Governor Dunne upon the bill establishing a state board of moving picture censorship, the anti-tipping bill, permitting corporations to own real-estate and increasing the salaries of Cook county judges.

List of Bills Approved.

H. B. 72, (Lyon) allowing five days in which to record chattel mortgages and making the sale of property within that time fraudulent.

H. B. 739, (Watson) changing a term of court in Crawford county.

H. B. 591, (Devine) making it lawful to prove handwriting by comparison with writing properly in files and records of the case.

H. B. 539, (W. J. Graham) providing that the property assessment list shall be published in a newspaper printed within the county.

H. B. 907, (Tompkins) reappropriating the remainder of the $7,500 appropriated four years ago for the relief of B. C. Jorgenson.

BRITISH TO INQUIRE INTO THE CENSORING OF NEUTRAL MAILS

LONDON, June 23.—Although officials decline to make any statement for publication it is believed the British government will institute an inquiry into the whole question of censoring neutral mails.

The Swedish minister at Washington notified the state department on June 17th that United States mail pouches designed for Sweden had been broken in England and their contents tampered with. He was instructed by his government to request the United States to take appropriate action.

as secretary creates a vacancy in the office of counselor of the state department. It is not expected that any immediate selection will be made, as Chandler Anderson, counselor under the administration of Secretary Knox for several months, has been specially employed to handle some of the numerous questions which the war raised. Mr. Anderson does not desire a permanent appointment. It is considered very likely that President Wilson will leave to Mr. Lansing the task of selecting his counselor.

THIRTEEN TESTIFY THAT THAW IS SANE

Thaw Himself Appears to Be Composed When On the Witness Stand

DESCRIBES HIS ESCAPE

Deputy Attorney General Indicates Whole Sordid History of Case Will Be Dragged to Light

EVELYN NESBIT MAY APPEAR

NEW YORK, June 23.—Thirteen witnesses, including Thaw himself, testified today that they believed Harry K. Thaw is sane. They appeared in the proceedings before a jury to test Thaw's present mental state on the outcome of which depends the question whether the slayer of Stanford White will go free or return to the insane asylum from which he escaped.

Showed No Symptoms of Delusion. The witnesses included four jurors at Thaw's former trials, two chaplains, a physician and a keeper at the Tombs prison, where Thaw was at various times confined; two newspaper men who had been associated with him during the nine years' history of the Thaw litigation, a lawyer who had met Thaw in New Hampshire and a juror in civil proceedings instituted by one of Thaw's former attorneys against Thaw's mother. They all agreed that Thaw showed no symptoms of delusion, that he could talk intelligently on many subjects, had never been violent in his conduct to their knowledge and was rational in his talk and actions.

Thaw Appears Composed. Thaw himself appeared to be composed when on the witness stand and answered the questions of his attorney in a well-modulated voice. He described his escape from Matteawan and his subsequent movements in Canada, Vermont and New Hampshire. He said he had left Matteawan because physicians had told him that he was sane and because he himself believed that he was. His cross-examination was postponed.

That the whole sordid history of the Thaw case—his alleged relations with women, the story of Evelyn Nesbit's relations with Thaw and the circumstances which led up to his slaying by Thaw—would be dragged to light again before the trial is concluded, was indicated by Deputy Attorney General Cook in his address to the jury. He said the state would prove that Thaw was an incurable paranoiac and was morally perverted.

Evelyn Nesbit May Testify. In his cross-examination of the witnesses today Mr. Cook put questions designed to impress upon the jury that a man suffering from the form of insanity which the state alleges Thaw possesses might appear perfectly rational in his ordinary associations, even mentally brilliant. One important witness whom the state desires to call is Susan Merrill, whose home Thaw was alleged at his trials for murder to have frequented, was missing, Mr. Cook said today. She had been located in Boston and had promised to come to New York. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who was in Chicago, he said, had been interviewed by the prosecution and had promised to appear if needed.

IOWA MAYORS DISCUSS MEANS OF MAKING UP LOSS OF REVENUE

DES MOINES, Ia., June 23.—The mayors of several Iowa cities which will lose their saloons on Jan. 1, 1916, when the Mueler law repeal, passed by the last legislature, becomes effective, held an informal meeting here today to discuss means of making up the revenue lost by the discontinuance of the Mueler tax. The officials generally believed that cutting down the expenditure in the police and fire departments was the only possible method of keeping the general expense within the legal limit. It was suggested the enforcement of the liquor laws be left largely to the counties, since the reduced police forces probably would be unable to enforce them satisfactorily.

NATIVE TROOPS ARRIVE TO PROTECT SETTLERS

Washington, June 23.—In a wireless message to the navy department tonight Admiral Howard said he had been informed that a relief train had succeeded in passing through the Yaqui valley, carrying Sonora state troops to Esperanza to protect foreign settlers who have been threatened by Indians.

Arrival of the Mexican troops, it is hoped, will relieve fears of the settlers and make unnecessary the landing of an expeditionary force from the American warships.

War News Summarized

With the capture of Lemberg the Austro-German armies which have driven the Russians back from the Carpathian mountains for a distance of more than 150 miles have accomplished the object of their great drive which was begun early in May. The efforts of the Austro-Germans will undoubtedly now be directed toward the complete clearance of Galicia of the Russian invaders. But there is no indication from Petrograd of where the Russian forces will make their next stand or whether they will continue their backward movement until they reach Russian soil. The second Austrian army under General Von Boehm-Ermolli entered Lemberg on Tuesday afternoon after sanguinary fighting. According to unofficial reports, however, much of the Russian artillery had been removed from the defenses around the capital and it is considered probable that a very great part of the Russian army of defense was in retreat before the works were stormed.

Russia officially confirms the evacuation of Lemberg by the Russian troops and their retreat on a new front.

Heavy fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula has ended with success for the allies along almost the entire line. After preparation by the allied artillery, two lines of Turkish positions were taken and held by the allies in spite of numerous fierce counter attacks. In the western war zone the French continue battering the German lines and small gains are reported by Paris to the north of Souchez and in Lorraine. The Germans claim advances south of Souchez and in the Vosges.

Of the fighting on the Austro-Italian front a general connected with the Italian war office summarizes the campaign during the last month by the statement that the Italians have occupied Austrian positions on a front of several miles.

Alamo Waste Way Damaged. So far as can be ascertained, the Alamo waste way, connected with Sharps Heading, a controlling unit in the $5,000,000 Imperial Valley irrigation system, was severely damaged. The heading itself and other important units in the system withstood the shocks, although fissures opened in the ground around them and unless further quakes render one of the headings useless, there will be no lack of water, it is said, for the 400,000 acres under cultivation and dependent entirely upon the vast network of canals and laterals.

Rebuilding Already Begun. Rebuilding already has begun. In this city where an entire block of the business was ruined, gangs of men were at work today clearing the debris.

At Calexico similar work was in progress. The damage here was estimated at close to $200,000. The loss at Calexico was estimated at considerable less than that. Several fires at Calexico added to the damage done there by the quakes which threw the municipal water tank off its sixty foot tower last night. The collapse of the tower deprived the town of water pressure and hampered efforts at fighting the fires which burned several residences and two business buildings.

Four Killed in Mexico. Calexico, Cal., June 23.—Four persons were killed in Mexico by the earthquake last night. The victims were crushed by a wall which fell during the second shock at 9:03 p. m. Several women habitually of Mexican resorts were seriously injured. One man who attempted to steal the gold from a gambling establishment was shot by Mexican soldiers. Every brick building in Calexico was damaged by the shocks. Fire broke out in three places and destroyed three residences besides a business building. Property loss is estimated at $200,000. The first earthquake was felt at 8 p. m. This was followed by a series of tremors which preceded the severe shock at 9:03 o'clock. It was this tremor that caused the damage. Several hotels here were damaged but the guests escaped unhurt after the first shock.

Overrules Motion for Change of Judge to Serve in Strike Cases

WALSHEBURG, Colo., June 23.—A motion for a change of judge to serve during the numerous cases pending in Huerfano county arising out of the recent Colorado coal miners strike, was overruled today by Judge Graffius Hilmyer.

Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for the United Mine Workers of America who made the motion, was granted time to file a bill of exceptions to the ruling before the supreme court.

Hawkins in his motion for change of judge charged that Judge Hilmyer was prejudiced against the United Mine Workers and his clients.

Judge Hilmyer presided at the trial of John R. Lawson, labor leader recently convicted of murder in the first degree as a result of strike disorders, and that of Louis Zancanelli, also convicted.

Weather During Past Week Unfavorable to Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The prospective record breaking wheat crop had somewhat unfavorable weather during the week just ended, the national weather and crop bulletin announced today.

Continued rainy weather in the central and northern portions of the principal winter wheat belt caused too rank growth and lodging in some districts and heavy local damage occurred from hail, wind and floods in portions of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. Wet weather delayed harvest in some sections but no serious damage is reported from that cause. In the southern portions cutting has been generally completed under favorable conditions with prospects of excellent yield.

Spring wheat was somewhat retarded by cool weather but it probably proved beneficial in developing satisfactory rooting.

SERIES OF QUAKES KILL FOUR PEOPLE

Tremors Continue Intermittently, Decreasing Steadily in Strength

SCORE ARE INJURED

One of the Controlling Units of the Imperial Valley Irrigation System Is Damaged

REBUILDING ALREADY BEGUN

EL CENTRO, Cal., June 23.—In an area extending roughly from the shoulder of the Cocopah Mountains of Lower California to San Bernardino and Needles on the north, Yuma, Ariz., on the east and San Diego on the west a series of earthquakes last night and today wrought damage now estimated at about $400,000, killed four people and injured perhaps a score, none seriously.

The tremors continued intermittently today, decreasing steadily in strength and doing only negligible damage. The zone in which the tremors were felt most centered about Calexico and Mexicali, the Mexican town opposite, in Lower California, where the free revelry of a frontier collection of saloons and dance halls baited when the first shock put out the lights and where all the fatalities occurred. The men and women killed were crushed beneath the adobe wall of a dance hall as the visitors fled panic stricken to the street.

Warden Gathers Testimony. Warden Allen and a corps of penitentiary guards worked throughout the day gathering testimony for presentation to the coroner's jury when that body resumes the inquest tomorrow. It is planned to again question convicts Campbell and Edwards before the inquest is closed.

An armed guard patrolled outside the prison gates today for the first time in several years.

Warden Allen was deeply affected when he received a letter of sympathy from the 1,700 convicts in the penitentiary. After reading the letter Warden Allen declared that he would not resign his position and that the honor system at the penitentiary would be continued.

Honor System Shall Stand. "It was not the honor system that killed my wife—it was one man," he said with tears in his eyes. "The honor system which we have done so much to build shall stand as long as I am in charge of the prison. My confidence in the boys has not been shaken. They have stood by me and I'll stand by them. I'll find that one man. He is responsible and he alone. The other boys had nothing to do with it and they shall not suffer. They are men, all of them. They have stood by me as I knew they would. Because one man has committed this crime the rest are not going to be deprived of the rights that help them to preserve their manhood."

Convicts' Letter of Sympathy. The convicts' letter follows: "At this hour of deepest grief we send you this message of our love and sympathy."

"Caesar had his Brutus; Rome its Nero and Jesus just his Judas, yet the remnants of his disciples remained steadfast and true. Treachery and betrayal were in vain. His work endures. So in spite of the dreadful blow that has fallen upon us the work of yours and our wife must go on."

"Let us all, you and us, take new hope and over the grave of her who poured out her love for us, join hands and resolve to finish the work which you have begun."

"The eyes of the world are upon us and we must succeed. We may, each and all of us, pledge ourselves to wipe out the tragic stain by making your work here a success. The hour has struck and we cannot retreat. Come back to us and we will build together a real honor system as a fitting memorial to your dear departed wife, that will be more lasting and enduring than marble or bronze. We will build men in whom honor is not dead and will not die."

"Our hearts are heavy with grief and our eyes are wet with tears because of this sad tragedy."

"Four your wife and our friend, Odette Allen, words cannot express our thoughts nor speech contain our love."

WILSON AND LANSING DISCUSS A NUMBER OF FOREIGN QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Notes to be sent to Germany on the sinking of the sailing ship William P. Frye and to Great Britain on interference with American commerce by the troubled situation in Haiti and other foreign questions were discussed today by President Wilson with Secretary Lansing.

The note to Great Britain was further advanced at the conference today but it was understood that it will be several days more before it is sent to London. The memorandum from London received here today, relating to the same subject will be taken into consideration in the preparation of the final draft.

SIMPSON AND DIXON TO DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

PEORIA, Ill., June 23.—John Simpson of Galesburg and Noah Dixon of Springfield will meet tomorrow to decide the golf championship of the Central Illinois Country Club associations as a result of the semi-finals this afternoon in which Simpson eliminated Hoydston of Galesburg while Dixon defeated G. W. Bunn, Jr. of Springfield.

WARDEN ALLEN WORKS TO GATHER EVIDENCE

OFFICIALS ABANDON ROBBERY THEORY ON FINDING VICTIM'S PURSE

Express Opinion That Mrs. Allen Was Killed Either For Revenge or as the Result of an Assault—Convicts Send Letter of Sympathy to Warden.

JOLIET, Ill., June 23.—Finding of Mrs. Edmund M. Allen's pocket-book containing several hundred dollars and valuable jewelry caused the penitentiary officials to abandon a theory that robbery might have been the motive for the murder of the prison warden's wife last Sunday morning. It was not learned until today that the victim's purse was missing and a search for it was begun with the result that the pocket-book was found among the debris of the charred bedroom where Mrs. Allen's body was discovered. The prison officials expressed the opinion tonight that Mrs. Allen was killed either for revenge or as the result of an assault and that one of the convicts under suspicion knows more about the crime than he has told.

TEUTONS CAPTURE GALICIAN CAPITAL

Fall of Lemberg May Mean Cutting Off of Russ Army in Southeast Galicia

RETREAT IN GOOD ORDER

Austrian Correspondents Pay Tribute to Rear Guard Action Fought by Muscovites

LEAVE FEW PRISONERS BEHIND

LONDON, June 23.—The Russians have lost Lemberg. They occupied the Galician capital early in September and held it continuously until Tuesday, when the combined Austro-German forces compelled them to retreat from the city, which is only sixty-odd miles due west from the nearest point of the Russian frontier.

Mean Crushing Blow. Whether the fall of Lemberg means that the Russian army operating south of it, in southeast Galicia, is effectively cut off from the army to the north stretching across Poland and to the Baltic cannot yet be said. The newspapers of both Vienna and Berlin say this is the case and that the Russian army received a blow from which they cannot recover. If the stroke proves as crushing as the Teutons predict, its effect, military observers here say, soon should be felt in the transfer of vast German forces to the west, where for days they have been hard pressed by the French.

Up to 10:30 o'clock tonight, Petrograd had not conceded the fall of Lemberg. Previous despatches from the Russian capital, however, related details of what purported to be the systematic withdrawal of the Russians from the town and if these details should prove correct it is believed in military circles here that when the count is taken of the Austro-German booty it will not be large, for as was the case at Przemyśl the Russians are said to have worked hard to move everything of military value.

Russ Retreat in Good Order. Telegrams received from Vienna concerning the capture of Lemberg and recounting the celebration of the populace in Vienna over the victory add that the Austrian correspondents pay tribute to the magnificent rear guard action fought by the Russians, who are declared to have retreated eastward in good order, leaving behind few prisoners and even removing the Russian documents from the city, which, since the Russians occupied it, has been called by them Lwow. One telegram from Vienna says Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph purpose to meet soon in the recaptured Galician capital for "fitting ceremonies to mark the end of Russia's dominance of Galicia."

The news of the fall of Lemberg was known on the continent yesterday but it did not reach London until late this afternoon when a bulletin arrived almost simultaneously from Berlin and Vienna by way of Amsterdam. The British press had been expecting such a development and there was no more than passing comment on it, though it drove home, according to military observers, the fact how ample must have been the Austro-German ammunition supply to accomplish the feat. Berlin and Vienna are reported to be filled with joy over the victory of their forces. Archduke Frederick of Austria, commander-in-chief of the Austrian forces and General August (Von) Mackensen of the German army both have been made field marshals of the Prussian army in recognition of their services in the Galician campaign.

On the river Danube, south of Lemberg the battle is still raging.

REQUEST FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO PAY FOR SHOOTING OF ITALIAN

Senator Lewis and Alfred Riess, State's Attorney for Randolph County, See Assistant Secretary Osborne.

Washington, June 23—Senator Lewis and Alfred Riess, state's attorney of Randolph county, Illinois, saw Assistant Secretary Osborne of the state department to request that the federal government assume financial responsibility for the shooting of Alfred Piazza, an Italian, by a mob in Illinois last October. The man was shot while he was being taken through Randolph county, Illinois, by Perry county officers, who had arrested him on a charge of killing two American miners. Under an Illinois law the family of a man lynched may sue the county in which he was killed for the sum of $5,000. The Italian consul at Chicago has begun proceedings to collect that sum.

Taking the ground that in the noted New Orleans cases where several Italians were lynched by a mob and the federal government paid an indemnity, the Randolph county officials want the federal government to take the same action in the Piazza case.

The request was taken under consideration.

DECLARES AVERAGE THREAD OF LIFE MIGHT BE LENGTHENED

Retiring President of American Medical Association Addresses Public Meeting.

San Francisco, June 23.—The average thread of life—life at 42—might be lengthened to 65 years if the American people so wished and would obey a hypothetical set of rules and regulations, Dr. Victor C. Vaughn of Ann Arbor, Michigan, retiring president of the American Medical association said tonight in a public meeting to which the day was devoted.

"Since 1880," he said, "the average of longevity in this country has been increased more than ten years. In the last ten years life has been lengthened by more than four years.

"If every city would install rules and regulation for health, such, for instance, as William C. Gorgas, surgeon general of the army, might give, the lives of our children could be brought up to an average of 65 years."

The elimination for a month of the various health bureaus, he said, would cause this country to be plunged into a plague worse than anything that ever happened in the middle ages.

REVENUES FROM CUSTOMS NOW IN HAND SHOW BIG DECREASE

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Customs officials declared tonight that the revenues from customs now in hand for the fiscal year which ends June 30th, amount to more than $204,000,000 and that there is a prospect that the year will be close to $210,000,000.

This would be $30,000,000 below the estimates made by Secretary McAdoo last fall and less by more than $80,000,000 than the receipts last year before the European war interfered with imports. The closest calculation as to the amount of customs of the year was made several months ago by A. J. Peters, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of customs, who figured on $218,000,000.

Rent Houses Wanted

There has never been a time when desirable rent houses, $7.50 to $25, were scarcer at Johnston Agency than they are today. Our facilities for securing the right renter for the right house are good. Being the only agency in the city making a specialty of this business, a constant stream of applicants pours through our office. We know what is due to tenants in the way of repairs, and our tenants stay. On the other hand, we collect all rents in advance, and we do not, upon the average, lose a full month's rent upon one house a year.

Landlords—We think you will find it profitable, and save yourselves a great amount of trouble, if you will let us attend to your rentals. We have made a science of it. And we respectfully solicit your business.

EDITOR P. R. NELSON VICTIM OF ASSAULT

WAYLAIN BY MAN WHILE RETURNING HOME LAST NIGHT.

Winchester Newspaper Proprietor Knocked Down and Kicked in Face by Unknown Parties — Attack Thought to Be Outgrowth of Election Contest.

P. R. Nelson, editor and publisher of the Winchester Times, was the victim of an assault Wednesday night about 9:30 o'clock as he was returning from the Scott county court house to his residence. He was passing the Methodist church when someone attacked him from the dark and knocked him down, kicking him severely in the body and in the face. Mr. Nelson has always taken a great interest in politics in his home city and it is thought that feeling growing out of the election contest, which is now in progress there in the circuit court before Judge Norman Jones of Carrollton, occasioned the assault. As previously stated at the last election Dr. H. H. Fletcher and George Thomas each received 435 votes for mayor. Since the election there have been many contentions on both sides. A session was held at the court house last night and adjournment was taken at 9 o'clock and will be resumed again this morning at 9:30. It is thought that the contest will be concluded by Friday.

COURT GOES FURTHER INTO MATTER OF VISITS TO ACADEMY OFFICES

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 23.—The court of inquiry which is investigating irregularities in naval academy examination papers, today went further into the matter of surreptitious visits by midshipmen to the offices of the various heads of departments. C. M. Reagle of the former third class, who admitted on the stand yesterday that he had roamed through several of the departments with the aid of a master key, a pair of pliers and a pocket searchlight, figured largely in the testimony of witnesses today. W. D. Jones, a classmate of Reagle, testified that he had accompanied Reagle on one of the expeditions in search of midshipmen's class marks in advance of their being given out by professors.

GIVE DETAILS OF FIGHTING.

Geneva, June 23, via Paris.—News-papers of the canton of Gisons, eastern Switzerland give details obtained from Swiss soldiers and guides respecting the fighting at Stelvio Pass and the neighboring heights overlooking the Val d'Aoste valley. This region is known as the rear door to Italy, through which it would be possible to threaten Milan. The Austrians have fortified Stelvio strongly with mountain artillery and blockhouses. The Italians hold other passes nearby.

GERMANS RECEIVE CALL.

Cleveland, June 23.—Cleveland Germans received today copies of a call issued in Detroit and Toledo for a meeting of representatives of German, Austrian and Hungarian organizations through the country to form a political association with the object of forcing the United States government to put a stop to the sale of arms and munitions to Germany's foes. The call was issued by the Deutscher Bund of Detroit.

Boggs report says about $220,000 of the money taken from the association's accounts may be recovered.

ARGUE REASONABLENESS OF PROPOSED INCREASED RATES

Representatives of Carriers and Interested Shippers Appear Before Commerce Commission.

Washington, June 23.—Reasonableness of proposed increased rates on grain, grain products and broom corn by western railroads was argued today before the interstate commerce commission by representatives of the carriers and interested shippers.

C. S. Wright, attorney for many western roads, told the commission that broom corn was worth in many instances as much as $75 a ton and that in consideration of this fact it could well afford to pay a higher rate of transportation. Samuel Wasserman, representing broom corn and broom interests, declared the product was not worth more than $50 a ton on the average. He said that twenty-five percent of the broomcorn grown in Texas and other western states was assembled in Kansas and shipped to Amsterdam, New York, to be made into brooms. Fifty to one hundred per cent of the value of a car he claimed was charged for this transportation service.

"The broom corn industry", he added, "cannot stand the proposed increase in rates. If the rates go higher the people of the east can't get brooms."

A. J. Norton of the Santa Fe and A. E. Helm of the Kansas railroad commission, made the principal argument on the proposed increases on grain and on grain products. Mr. Norton said the farmer did not pay the freight, that it was paid by the consumer, but that the farmers' organizations were fighting the proposed rate increase in a systematic fashion. Mr. Helm insisted that farmers did pay the freight on grain and said that every increase in rates was reflected in the price the farmer got for his grain at the farm. He argued that the increase on grain products alone would bring the carriers more than $10,000,000 the sum mentioned in some of their briefs as the added revenue to be expected from all increases.

GERMAN FOUND GUILTY OF BEING A SPY IS EXECUTED IN LONDON

London, June 23.—F. Robert Muller, who on June 4th, was found guilty at the Old Bailey police court of being a German spy was executed in the Tower of London today by shooting.

Another alleged German spy, Robert Rosenthal who is said by the police to have confessed that he was sent to England by the German admiralty to obtain information on naval matters, is to be court-martialed.

The official announcement concerning Muller and Rosenthal was extremely brief, stating merely that Muller had been put to death in the tower this morning and that the summary of the evidence in the case of the alleged spy, Rosenthal, was taken to the Wellington Barracks today. He will be tried by court martial.

It is presumed that Muller faced a firing squad in the yard at the tower of London at dawn, as did Carl Hans Lody, who was executed last November after he had been convicted of spying.

QUESTION OF MOVING HOLY SEE IS CAUSING ANIMATED DISCUSSION

ROME, via Chiasso to Paris, June 23.—It is asserted that the question of the pope accepting the invitation of the Spanish bishops to transfer the holy see to Spain is causing animated discussion at the Vatican. It is recalled that after the troubles in Rome in July, 1881, during the transfer of the body of Pope Pius IX. from St. Peter's to its last resting place and when the coffin was almost thrown into the river, Pope Leo appointed a commission of cardinals to study the situation of the papacy.

Some of the cardinals favored the immediate transfer of the papacy elsewhere but the majority agreed that the transfer should take place only if the safety of the pope were threatened, or he was hindered in the exercise of his spiritual ministry. This commission arranged the details for the pope and possibly the Sacred college, to leave Rome secretly to be followed by the papal court and made plans for the administration of the church from the time of the departure of the pope until he should resume his offices in his new residence.

PROVES A GREAT AID.

The manufacturers of this washing preparation declare that it does not injure the hands or fabrics in washing and that it materially reduces the arduous labor of washday. The introductory price has been 15c a bottle but the manufacturers have just announced a change in price, reducing the charge from 15c to 10c.

NOTICE.

MAJORITY VOTE OF CARPENTERS' COUNCIL DEFEATS ARBITRATION

CHICAGO, June 23.—Arbitration of the strike of 16,000 carpenters was defeated by a majority vote of the carpenter's council, it was announced today. This is taken by the 600 members of the Contractors' association as warrant for executing their recent threat that all the producers of building materials will close their places. It was said tonight the brick manufacturers would be the first to order a shut-down, probably tomorrow and that the other manufacturers would follow. Should all the producers of building materials close it is estimated that 200,000 workmen will be added to the craftsmen now out of employment.

RECEIVE FURTHER EVIDENCE OF INTERFERENCE WITH MAILS

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Further evidence of interference with neutral mails passing through England was received at the state department today in the form of an envelope, postmarked in a neutral European country addressed to a person in the United States and bearing across its torn flap the printed legend "opened by censor."

An investigation of this subject has been in progress at the post office department since the Swedish minister complained several days ago that mail from the United States to Sweden had been opened and tampered with in England. It is understood that proof has not been lacking that the censorship has been applied to mail both from and to the United States and it is said that at least one letter addressed to a neutral diplomatic mission has been opened.

EMPEROR ATTENDS A TEDEUM.

The emperor came to Vienna from Schoenbrunn for the ceremony and later received at Schoenbrunn a deputation of the Galician nobility who offered their congratulations.

be taken of the baseball fans or misunderstandings arise, the manager and members of the Murray-ville Ramblers Baseball team wish to make this statement. The Ramblers club was organized six years ago, under the management of Thomas Sooy, and has had a very successful career. It was organized entirely of local boys, living in the village or in the immediate vicinity of Murrayville. Six of the boys who were members of the team at its organization, are still on the job. Another team has been organized recently under the name of the Murrayville Tigers, and are playing golf ball. The Ramblers are open for dates (Sundays excepted) on and after the 3rd of July. Any game in which the Ramblers are to participate will be advertised under their club name, "The Ramblers", with J. W. Fanning, manager.

CELEBRATE DISEASE CONQUEST AT PANAMA.

San Francisco, June 23.—Today is set aside by the convention of the American Medical association to commemorate the sanitary achievements connected with the building of the Panama canal. Notable speakers will give the public and the profession a chance to become informed as to the remarkable progress of preventive medicine through applied science. Among the speakers is Dr.
W. C. Gorgas, surgeon-general of the army, who had charge of disease suppression in the Canal Zone. The preventive work to stamp out leptosis, typhus and other dread diseases will be treated by other prominent American doctors.

SORORITY GIRLS MUST PAY.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 23.—
Tau Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi, a national sorority, has been forced by legal judgment to pay the $325 rent claimed by the landlady of their former headquarters here, despite the claim of the girls that, although they were there to have the house to themselves, it was occupied also by a man and "other animals" even more distasteful to the girls. That the story of the girls about the "other animals" was bitterly resented by the landlady, Mrs. Mary Tierney, was shown when it was hinted that she might sue the girls for slander. The girls put up a great fight, but the court awarded judgment for the rent from last September to April of this year, which the girls had declined to pay.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Michael Rapp

By Ensley Moore.

Member of Illinois State Historical Society.

There are men who make a community; men of strong character, honest and faithful, not assuming or presuming or seeking office. But they are of those who make things possible for a town or state to become and to endure.

Michael Rapp belonged to this class of good men. He was born in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, Feb.
22, 1815, of German descent. His parents were Michael and Susanna Rapp.

Mr. Rapp, the second Michael, attended schools in his native state, and learned his trade of harness-making in Reading, Penn. After which he came out to Indiana,
where he remained for one year.
He removed to Jacksonville in the fall of 1836.

His first engagement here was with Matthew Stacy, to whom reference has already been made in this series of sketches. The firm of Stacy and Rapp continued until 1843, when Mr. Rapp became sole proprietor of the establishment in the saddle and harness line until 1870, when his son Wm. B. became his successor.

The business was first conducted by Mr. Rapp in the two story brick fronting west, at the southeast corner of Morgan and Mauvalterre

THE LATE MICHAEL RAPP.

streets, on the Square just where Hopper's place now shoots its front in various directions. Some years afterward, and for years, Mr. Rapp occupied the storeroom where Lee Alcott now is, on the north half of the east side of the Square. Rapp's last place of business, where he was succeeded by his sons Thos. H. and M. Deem, was on East Morgan street, south side, one door east of the Square; there the sons still carry on their business.

Mr. Rapp's residence was at the northeast corner of South East and East College streets. His son, Thos.
H. still resides upon the same lot,
on the north side of it; the corner being his birthplace.

Michael Rapp was married October 20, 1839, to Miss Eliza Whitaker, of Wayne county, Illinois. By this wife he had a son, Wm. Birch Rapp, and a daughter, Susan J., first wife of Alexander Platt. Mrs.
Rapp died in 1845. He again married, this wife being Miss Susan H.
Ford. They had four children:
Thomas H., born July 14, 1855;
Michael Deem, born Jan. 5, 1858;
Chas. Edward, born May 3, 1860, died Jan. 22, 1882, and Katherine Oullia.

Mr. Rapp was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church from 1837; first of Centenary, then a charter member of Brooklyn church, in which organization he continued to the last.

He was a town trustee in 1844 and 1850, and a member of the city council from the 3d ward in 1872-3. He had qualified for political honors by belonging to that dare company of 1840.

Mr. Rapp was an early and prominent Odd Fellow. He belonged to Illini lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., established in July, 1837, before there was any grand lodge in the state.
Mr. Rapp was a charter member.
This lodge was instituted in the old Jail on North Main street, where it was housed for three years.

"The Historian, James, says: 'In Odd Fellowship a 'camp' is a higher degree to which only third degree members can be admitted. It is to Odd Fellowship what the Knights Templar are to Masonry. In this city Ridgely Encampment No. 9 was organized Oct. 14, 1857, with Jacob McFarland, E. W. Roberts, G.
W. S. Callon, M. Rapp, Jas. H. Lur-ton, Washington Allen, Lewis Hatfield, Aug. E. Ayers, Mortimer Stout and John Pyatt as charter members. This encampment has always been in flourishing and prosperous condition."

The organization here in 1837, which was "for the purpose of afforded relief to the sick and disabled members thereof, and to the widows and orphans of deceased members, and for the promotion of literature, science and the mechanic arts, and for no other purpose whatever", had Mr. Rapp as a director.

Mr. Rapp died March 8, 1882.
Mr. Rapp was a member of the Democratic party until 1856, when he became a Republican, being one of the strongest of Union men during the war, to which he gave his oldest son, Wm. Birch Rapp.

A pleasant story, illustrative of the character of the man, was told of Mr. Rapp by one of the veterans of 1861-5. Mr. Rapp enjoyed the confidence of our "boys in blue" to so great an extent that a number of them sent their pay to him, and he was called "the soldiers banker".

The old soldier said that the first time he met Mr. Rapp after the war, Mr. Rapp called him by name and asked him if he wanted his money. Thereupon he counted out the money, principal and interest, and handed it over to the soldier boy. This rivals the story of Lincoln's prompt settlement with the auditor of the post office department of his (L's.) obligation to the department after being postmaster at New Salem.

Mr. Rapp was a very outspoken man, straightforward and clear. He was rather short, and stout in build, so he stood solidly and squarely up on his feet. He stood the same way as to his principles, solidly and squarely.

By his first wife, Miss Whitaker,
Mr. Rapp had the daughter, Mrs.
Platt, referred to above. The latter was born July 23, 1840, and died
Nov. 2, 1903.

Wm. Birch Rapp, son of the same mother, was born July 26, 1843. He was a member of Co. I, 101st Regiment of Illinois Volunteers, and was wounded at the battle of Peach Tree Creek (Atlanta), Georgia, in 1864. His wound was such as to compel his discharge and retirement from the service; and it was finally the cause of his death, Dec.
11, 1875.

He married Miss Amelia Chappell, daughter of Charles Chappell, of this city, who survived him.

Susan H. Ford, who became Mr.
Michael Rapp's second wife, was born in Madison county, Kentucky, Nov. 5, 1822. She came to this place with her parents, Thomas and Malinda Ford, December 12, 1829, in time to see "the Deep Snow." She died Oct. 4, 1901.

As stated above, Mrs. Rapp was the mother of four children:

Thomas Henry married Miss Clara J. Rutledge, daughter of the Rev. George Rutledge, a well-known Methodist minister and early settler. The Rutledges were a patriot family of South Carolina in the days of the Revolution and maintained their honored name down through the Civil war, living then in Illinois. Captain William J. Rutledge, brother of George, was one of the founders of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Mrs. Rapp is a graduate of the Illinois Woman's college.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Rapp have been the parents of Charles E., now in Chicago, and of Misses Grace, Ruth and Katherine of this city. They reside on South East street, near College street.

Mr. Thomas H. Rapp was a member of the city board of education in 1900-1902 and an alderman in 1884-5 and 1885-6, the term being that of one year, he serving two terms.

He is both a Mason and an Odd Fellow in fraternal matters and the family are members of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Michael Deem married Miss Jessie Allen, daughter of Isaac and Julia Allen, of this place.

Mrs. Rapp was a graduate of the Young Ladies' Athenaeum here. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, and Mr. Rapp being members of Westminster church lat-terly. Their last home was on Caldwell street. Mrs. Rapp passed on Oct. 29, 1909.

Mr. M. D. Rapp, with his brother, carries on the business established by their father.

Mr. Deem, as has been said of Thomas H., is a member of both the Masonic and Odd Fellow fraternities.

Charles Edward, as previously stated, died young.

Katherine Oullia married Mr.
Charles F. Glossop Oct. 17, 1889.
They occupy the old Rapp homestead at the northeast corner of East and College streets.

Mr. Glossop is the son of Alfred and Sarah, the former being an Englishman and the latter of German descent. Mr. Alfred Glossop served in the Third Missouri cavalry, being chief bugler. He enlisted from Louisiana, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Glossop are members of Centenary church. Mrs.
Glossop attended the Illinois Woman's college.

Count Jean Rapp, a distinguished French general under Napoleon Bonaparte, was a relative of the family. A second cousin of the Rapps here is given to going to Europe and to Paris. Upon one visit her relationship to the general above mentioned was sufficient to cause her to receive special privilege in Paris.

John Christopher Diem was born April 13, 1744, in the village of Kemnach, county of Werheim, on the river Main. He married April 27, 1774, Margaret Setley, at Reading, Berks county, Pa. He enlisted as Christopher Diem as private in Capt. John Diehl's company of Major Hoister's battalion of the mil-lita of Berks county, Jan. 22, 1777.

Mustered in as second lieutenant of Jacob Rodamell's third company, second battalion, Berks county militia, May 17, 1777. Private in Capt. Conrad Gest's company of the sixth battalion Berks county militia, guarding prisoners in Reading "gaol" that had attempted to escape, and after guarding them from Reading to Lancaster.

He rendered service at the battle of Trenton, December, 1776. He

THE CHERRY PIE

In joyous June man casts his eye upon the blushing cherry pie, and feels that life is not in vain, that destiny is safe and sane. In June the roses hold the gaze, and fill with scent the sunny days; all kinds of roses I endorse—he has the soul of mule or horse, who does not think the roses due, when by the garden paths they shine. But when to carpet tacks we get, and sift the facts already yet, we must admit the rose is not the kind of fruit that hits the spot, when we have appetite to burn—'tis then for cherry pie we yearn. The gods who roost up there on high must often long for cherry pie, for canned ambrosia has a taste reminding one of rancid paste, and drinking nectar from a cask must be a rather dreary task. How Jupiter would wink his eye if he could swipe a cherry pie, the kind old-fashioned wives produce, and revel in its crust and juice! The cherry pie, just slightly tart, the noblest work of modern art! Since I am old and am denied the pleasure of a new June bride, I'll think of love not more, but I will have a nice June cherry pie.

Agricultural News Valuable To Farmers

FENCE POSTS RUN TO HIGH VALUES ON FARMS

INVESTMENT IN ILLINOIS APPROXIMATES $50,000,000.

Drable Type of Posts Will Mean an Enormous Economic Saving to Land Owners—Reinforced Concrete Has Many Advantages.

(By J. J. Lacy, Student of Class of 1917, University of Illinois.)

There are in use on farms in Illinois about 300,000 fence posts, representing an investment of approximately $50,000,000. When we consider that the average life of all posts is five and six-tenths years, we can easily see that in the course of a hundred years the amount of money spent for posts is somewhat appalling. Now, if posts could be used which would last a hundred years, a tremendous saving would be effected. The concrete post, properly made, would not need to be replaced oftener than once in a hundred years. Of course, if posts are not properly constructed they will not last long.

For perfect construction we first need good forms. They may be either home-made or commercial forms, but it is usually more satisfactory to use a well made commercial article. Good home-made forms, however, are much to be preferred to poor commercial forms. The size which produces a post five inches square at the bottom and tapering slightly to the top is a good size to use.

In the construction of concrete posts, reinforcement is exceedingly important. It has been found that twisted No. 10 wires give very good results, but one-fourth inch rods or any iron that are straight and strong are better. Reinforcement should be placed near the surface, for if placed near the center it adds very little to the strength of the one shown in the diagram will answer perfectly. A trench seven or eight feet long is dug and down in two of the corners holes are bored at an angle with a post auger. Heavy reinforcement is laid in the trench, down through these holes and up through the form for the post, which is, of course, at the end in which the holes were bored. The holes, the trench to a depth of about 12 inches, and the form are filled successively with concrete and the post is completed. Holes may be left for bolts, to which the fence may be fastened. Such a post, built on the south farm at the university, has successfully withstood a very severe test, as the pulleys were fastened to it when the wire was stretched and an unusual amount of force was used in the stretching.

Concrete posts have passed the experimental stage. At a cost of 30 cents or even less, concrete posts may now be made which will prove entirely satisfactory, and which will last a lifetime, provided, of course, the workmanship is good. Workmanship includes clean materials, proper proportioning, thorough mixing and adequate reinforcing. It is false economy to use poor materials for a weak mixture, or to use slipshod methods of mixing, as posts made in this way are not worth setting.

SOCIAL ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS IS OUTLINED

Writer Insists That Bad Roads Are Shackles to the Farmers' Feet—Struggle for Consolidated Schools—Rural Free Delivery.

(By W. H. Rayner, Civil Engineering Department, University of Illinois—Article IV.)

Bad roads hinder progress. Bad roads are shackles to the farmers' feet. No effective co-operation in any thoroughgoing reconstruction program for our country is possible without good roads. This is clear when we consider that all organized endeavor reaches its aim by means of committees, delegations, public meetings—by collective post. The best practice is to place one piece of the material in each corner, about three-quarters of an inch from the surface. If one desires to use wires, the twisting may be done very rapidly by passing a long wire around a tree or other solid object and fastening the ends to a wagon wheel. The wheel is rotated and the wires are twisted very satisfactorily. It can be easily cut in the desired lengths. Another method is to fasten a spiral spring to one end of a plank and a crank to which the wire may be fastened to the other end. The spring is fastened to the spring and to the crank and by turning the handle the wires are twisted. The spring holds the wires taut and also allows for the shortening due to twisting.

The best mixture to use is 1:2:5-3, and it should be wet, as dry mixture results in weak, porous concrete. None of the aggregate should be larger than one-half inch in diameter. After the wires are in place and the mold has been filled with concrete, it should be tamped or jarred until all air bubbles are expelled, after which it should be leveled off and left to stand for 48 hours. At the end of this time the posts should be removed, stood on end and soaked with water each day for a month. The posts should not be set, however, for three months, as results of experiments carried on at the university show that they are materially stronger at this age than earlier.

Numerous methods of fastening the fence to the posts have been patented, but none of them have proved lasting. The best method is to tie the fence to the post by a small wire. The wire is simply hooked to the fence on one side of the post, passed around the back and twisted around the wire on the other side. The end with the hook is then twisted up tightly. The twisting is best accomplished by means of a small, pliers-like instrument especially designed for this purpose and which takes up the slack as it twists. In this way a woven wire fence may be bound to the posts so firmly that it cannot possibly be moved up or down.

If this method is followed and the woven wire has been stretched well, the fence will be incredibly strong. If a force of about 5,000 pounds is used in stretching ordinary stock fence, it will be so taut that an animal can scarcely push it out of line, even if unsupported by posts. The wire should be stretched as tightly as this because it will aid in preserving posts from being broken off.

If one uses such a pull, however, he must have very strong, solid end posts. An end post similar to the action. And a committee, delegation or community cannot meet by telephone, wireless or by rural free delivery. A group of individuals must get together and work out ways and means for accomplishing the desired ends or to hear a concert or lecture. And universal experience confirms the statement that attendance on such meetings follows the lines of least resistance, which in this case would mean that if the roads were muddy or rough the farmer would remain at his fireside and await a more convenient season.

Education in Country:

As regards education in the country, we are beginning to change conditions which in the light of modern demands are intolerable and defenseless. The one-room, inefficient, repellent country school is being replaced by the vastly more efficient and comfortable consolidated school. The University of Illinois Bulletin, volume 2, No. 3, prints the results of an investigation by the College of Agriculture as to the status of consolidated schools in the United States and the advantages of such schools. It says: "There is a minimum below which a school cannot be a good school. That minimum for a mixed population of all ages is two teachers, two rooms and thirty to forty pupils. The country is thinly populated and good schools can never be established within walking distance of each other. Any system that really serves country people necessarily involves transportation." And strange to say, the chief argument against consolidated schools is bad roads. As though it were better to have the children wade through mud and snow and sit in school with wet clothing or frost-bitten ears than to expose a team of horses to the same rather conditions. Of course, we must have consolidated schools, whatever may be the condition of the roads, but good roads will help immeasurably.

Rural Free Delivery.

The invaluable worth of the rural free delivery is acknowledged by everyone. It has probably done more than any other one thing to raise the general level of country life, simply because it has brought the farmer into closer relations with his fellow men, which is just the function of good roads. And this mail service will of course be greatly improved and extended as the condition of the highways will permit.

HATCHING EGGS BY ARTIFICIAL METHODS

INCUBATION IS PROBLEM OF SPECIAL IMPORTANCE.

Well Ventilated Room, Where Air Never Goes Below 45 Degrees and Where There Is Protection From Drafts Is Ideal Location—Some Instructions Noted.

(By L. E. Dallenbach, former student University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.)

In a previous article we spoke of the different factors that regulate the successful incubation of eggs and the different classes of incubators.

The ideal location for the incubator is in a well ventilated room, where the temperature ranges from 45 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit, where the relative humidity of the air never goes below 60 per cent and where there is always protection from drafts. When possible one should construct a special house, preferably a cellar. The ordinary cellar of the dwelling is far superior to the majority of places where incubators are run. However, never use the basement for incubating purposes unless it is free from musty odors and is capable of being properly ventilated. It has been found by experiment that hatcheries average better and require less attention when the incubators are placed in cellars. The cellar for incubating purposes should have a ceiling 7 to 8 feet high, with the floor 3 to 4 feet below the surface of the ground and the dirt banked up around the outside. Good ventilation of the room is absolutely necessary. From the time the eggs are thoroughly heated and the developing processes started, gases are given off. If sufficient ventilation is not provided, contamination of the air will result and the vitality of the chicks will be injured if not the actual percentage of the hatch. Various systems of ventilation are often employed, but the one that has proven satisfactory and is generally used is the burlap curtain on a window hinged at the bottom and swinging inward. By this method no strong currents of air can get into the cellar and the air that does enter is deflected upward towards the ceiling.

Plenty of Moisture. Of equal importance with ventilation is having a sufficient amount of moisture. When insufficient moisture is provided the egg evaporates too much and if the chick does not die in the shell, hatches as an undersized, puny individual. Chicks of this type rarely mature satisfactorily, if they live at all. It is claimed by some that too much humidity causes the chicks to drown in the shells. However, the writer has operated incubators where the entire cellar was flooded and had the best of results, both in the per cent hatched and the vigor of chicks. Incubators having sand or moisture trays in them always have sufficient moisture and no special note need be taken of the humidity of the air outside, or of the machine. On the other hand, where the moisture trays are not provided, special attention must be given to this point. Either have a hygrometer and keep the relative humidity between 60 and 80 degrees or err on the side of having more than is necessary. This can be done by sprinkling water over the floor of the room. A great many people make the mistake of thinking that a large quantity of water will give a correspondingly large amount of evaporation. This is entirely wrong. The amount of evaporation depends upon the surface area of the receptacle and not upon the amount of water it holds. A dish of water under the incubator will do no good; throw the water on the floor.

General Instruction. Only a few general instructions can be given with regard to the actual operation of the incubator and treatment of the egg during the hatch. It is always advisable to strictly follow the directions of the manufacturer. However, a few brief rules should be known and followed by everyone. Turn the eggs twice a day. Do this as nearly 12 hours apart as convenient. Start turning the eggs the second day after they have been put into the machine and continue until the eighteenth or nineteenth day. Never turn the eggs or open the incubator door after pipping has started. Never turn the eggs with oily hands. Do not let the temperature run high the first week; it is especially injurious at this time. Do not pull or jerk chicks out of the shell; it will not pay in the long run. Allow the chicks to remain in the incubator 36 to 48 hours after they hatch. Give the chicks nothing to eat or drink until they are placed under the brooder. Thoroughly clean and disinfect the incubator after every hatch.

Care of Hatching Eggs. The care of hatching eggs is a factor in producing large hatches and strong chicks that is most abused of all. As a general thing the farmer's wife takes the eggs out of the hen's gathering that has accumulated in the kitchen corner and expects the incubator to produce as good results as the hen. The old hen steals away from her nest in some cool place and every time she returns to lay another turns those already there. Take a lesson from the old hen and keep your eggs in a cool place, the optimum temperature being 40 or 45 degrees. Turn the eggs at least once a day and have them in the incubator within ten days from the time laid.

Shallow Cultivation Increases Yield of Corn is Shown By Experiments

Experiments for the past eight years have been conducted by the Illinois Experiment Station bearing on the question of tillage. The full results are to be published soon.

"One set of plots was scraped with the hoe, in imitation of shallow cultivation; that is, the weeds were destroyed with the hoe without making any attempt to make a mulch to conserve moisture. On this set of plots the average yield of corn for eight years was 49.5 bushels per acre. On another set of plots with the seed bed prepared in the same way the corn was given ordinary shovel cultivation, with the intention of forming a mulch as well as to destroy the weeds. On this set of plots the average yield of corn for the same eight years was 39.2 bushels, making an average difference in favor of shallow cultivation of 6.7 bushels per acre.

In the dry year of 1914 there was a difference of 9.5 bushels in favor of the shallow cultivation, while in the dryer year of 1913 the difference was 12.2 bushels in favor of shallow work. These are no doubt the most reliable long time experiments that have ever been conducted on the question of cultivation of corn. Frank I. Mann, a practical farmer, says: "My own experience and observation, with many others, coincides with the general conclusions to be drawn from these results."

In Curing Alfalfa Hay. For all classes of animals except horses, alfalfa should be cut for hay when the new shoots or stems begin to appear at the crown. These are easily seen just as they come up among the old stems at about the beginning of blossoming time. When alfalfa is to be fed to horses it may be allowed to grow slightly longer than when it is to be fed to cattle, but it should never be left until the second crop is injured in cutting the first crop.

It is a good plan to cut the alfalfa in the evening, before the dew has fallen, or in the morning after the dew is off. If the crop is very heavy a tedder can be used to advantage in the late forenoon or early afternoon after cutting. With good drying weather the hay can sometimes be raked and cooked the same day it is cut, even though it appears somewhat green.

Feeding Skim Milk to Calves. A calf of ordinary vigor can be put on a skim milk diet at the age of two or three weeks. The change to skim milk should be gradual. This change is best made by substituting a pound of skim milk for a pound of whole milk at each feed until the calf is receiving only skim milk.

The amount of skim milk fed should be the same as that of the whole milk which it replaces. This will usually be 30 or 32 pounds for a calf two to three weeks old. A gradual increase in the milk should be made as the calf grows, until at the age of five months it is receiving 14 to 20 pounds daily, depending on the size of the calf.—Bulletin No. 149, Agricultural Experiment Station of Nebraska.

GRADING IN THE LIGHT OF HEREDITY

MATING OF ANIMALS AS TO BREED COMMANDS ATTENTION.

Selection in the One Practice Which All Breeders Must Follow in Any System of Breeding—Three-fourths Bloods Are Not All Alike.

By "grading" is meant the mating of an animal of mixed or unknown breeding to one that is better, a "pure bred," says Elmer Roberts of the Division of Genetics of the University of Illinois in an article. For example, "scrub" dairy cows are often mated to a pure-bred Jersey bull, the offspring bred back to this bull or another of the same breed, and so on until the animals are brought from a very inferior position to one approaching the Jersey type.

In such a breeding operation it is said that the herd has been brought through the stages of one-half Jersey, three-fourths Jersey, seven-eighths Jersey and so on. Stated in other words, the first mating of the "scrub" to the pure bred Jersey would produce offspring called one-half Jersey; the offspring of the one-half blood Jersey would be three-fourths blood Jersey; the next offspring seven-eighths blood Jersey, and the third back cross would produce fifteen-sixteenths blood Jersey. Are the expressions one-half, three-fourths, seven-eighths, when applied to these individuals true? Do they signify what has actually happened?

All animal breeders know that the three-fourths bloods are not all alike. In fact, some individuals may be very much like the type desired, while others may show the characteristics of the "scrub" and still other individuals may fall between these extremes.

Knowledge gained in recent years as to the manner of transmission of characters from parents to offspring throws much light upon what is actually happening in the system of breeding known as grading.

Female Exert Influence. Remember that the female exerts as much influence upon the offspring as does the male, and that grading is only a system of cross-breeding. Hence, let us use as an illustration a cross between a Hereford and a Polled Angus. The former has horns and a white face and the latter is without horns and has a colored face.

When such a cross is made between pure Herefords and pure Polled Angus, all the offspring are without horns and have white faces. They, however, carry the factors for horns and colored face, but these characters do not show because the polled condition and white face are dominant. These offspring are one-half Angus; they receive one-half of their characters from the Angus and the other half from the Hereford.

To Obtain Three-fourths Angus. To obtain the so-called three-fourths Angus, the one-half Angus are mated back to a pure Polled Angus. Four kinds of offspring are obtained among these three-fourths Angus; a fairly large number produced.

(1) Animals pure for polled and impure for white face; that is, carries factor for colored face.
(2) Animals impure for polled and impure for white faces.
(3) Animals pure for polled and pure for colored faces.
(4) Animals impure for polled and pure for colored face.

If the above individuals were all three-fourths bloods they would all look alike, but since they are not all alike, evidently they are not three-fourths bloods. Some of the individuals resemble the Angus type and some the Hereford. What is true for the four characters in the example just given is true for any number of characters. However, when considering all the individuals in this cross, three-quarters of the characters are from the Angus and one-quarter from the Hereford.

The expression one-half blood can be applied to the first offspring, but after that the expressions three-fourths or seven-eighths or seven-sixteenths will not hold for an individual. They are approximately true, however, for a large number of individuals considered as a whole, but it would be misleading to say that any individual of this entire group is three-fourths or seven-eighths pure for the type desired.

If all characters continually blended in crossing, then such expressions would signify what has happened, but since characters behave as definite units in transmission and segregate sooner or later, some individuals will have certain characters, while a brother or sister may have entirely different characters. Two animals may have the same parents and still be entirely unlike in appearance and in breeding power. Thus pedigree is not an absolute criterion of what an individual is or what it will produce.

Don't Generalize Hastily.

One must not generalize hastily in calling animals three-fourths or seven-eighths or even sixteenths pure blooded, for some may be more pure blooded than the half bloods. For the same reason that characters behave as units in transmission, it is misleading to say of an individual that he obtains one-fourth of his character from the grandparents, or one-eighth from the great-grandparent, or one-sixteenth from the great-great-grandparent.

Selection is the one practice which all breeders must follow in any system of breeding, and one reason selection is possible is because characters do not blend, but segregate.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

Summary of Bulletin 180 by Professor S. A. Forbes.

1. Experiments with infested ripe apples show that the San Jose scale may live and reproduce freely on such fruits plucked from the tree and kept at ordinary room temperatures, and that living young may continue to be born under such conditions during a period of eight weeks. Infested apples taken from cold storage in December gave similar results, young being produced on these apples for 25 days.

2. Exact breeding experiments conducted at Urbana in 1906, in a way to distinguish throughout the season the descendants of the first-born from those of the last born of each generation, gave two successive generations of the last born series in the complete year and four such generations of the first born series. A computation based on data thus obtained yielded a possible rate of multiplication under optimum conditions of 32,791,472 to 1 for the year. This total is only the 98th part of that of other investigators, who took no account of diminished fecundity of generations produced by late born individuals.

3. Spraying operations with various preparations of lime and sulphur and with two brands of miscible oils justify the usual preference for the sulphur solutions, especially because of their more prolonged effect when applied in spring. The home-made solutions were equally effective with those ready-made and requiring only dilution for use. These experiments also illustrate the great advantage of early spraying before an orchard becomes heavily infested, and furnish evidence that spraying in spring is much more effective than spraying in fall, the ratio of benefit being

WANDERING DOGS A MENACE TO STOCK PRODUCTION

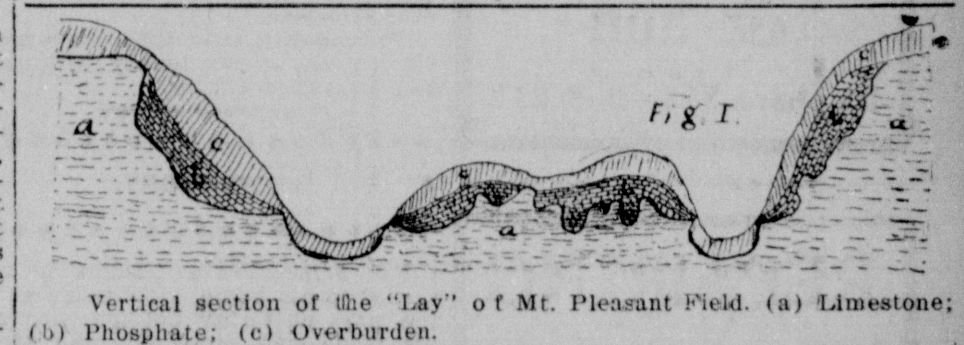

Suggestions for Community Control of Canine Problem Are Made—Timid Sheep Suffer Most From Depredations.

(By W. C. Coffey, Animal Husbandry Department, University of Illinois.—Article II.)

The chief accusation to be brought against dogs in the country is that they are a menace to live stock production. And, strange as it may seem, many country people have not awakened to the different ways in which roaming dogs can and do hinder the growing of live stock. Practically all of our attention has been focused on the predatory dog, the dog that chases, maims and kills poultry, swine, cattle and sheep. Apparently we have overlooked the danger that comes from dogs engaged in hunting and roaming around merely for the fun of it.

Right now we are passing through one of the worst scourges ever visited on the live stock industry of our country. In our fight to stamp out foot and mouth disease and in looking for causes we realize, as never before, how dangerous it is to allow dogs unlimited freedom. Experts engaged in stamping out this awful disease caution us against allowing dogs on our premises because they may carry the infection to us on their feet. Such an assumption is reasonable and it is just as reasonable to think of other infectious diseases being spread in the same way. Perhaps innocent, wandering dogs have carried cholera to many a herd of hogs, or perhaps they have carried tuberculosis to clean herds of hogs or cattle. Beyond doubt, it is time for us to begin to speculate as to whether dogs have not caused more harm through carrying infectious animal diseases than through attacks on live stock.

Woe to the Timid Sheep. From the above we can see no wise intent to minimize the destruction resulting from the attacks on live stock by predatory dogs. Such attacks do occur and they are serious. They are more serious with sheep than with any other class of domestic animals. Sheep are timid, and to a large degree, defenseless. Their pronounced fear of dogs seems to arouse all the predatory instincts in the dog. For years flock owners in farming communities have realized that it is unsafe to leave their sheep out at night in pastures somewhat removed from the farmstead. There are communities once noted for their flocks of sheep that have been forced to abandon them almost entirely because of dogs which commit depredations both in the day and night. One such community is eastern Pennsylvania. Before the miners, with their hosts of hungry, mischievous dogs, came into that community, flocks of sheep were to be found on nearly every farm. Today they are the exception rather than the rule. Around DuQuoin, Illinois, flocks were numerous until the coming of the coal miners, but at present very few flocks are to be found in that vicinity.

There are thousands of acres in central and eastern United States suitable for sheep raising, but they are not being devoted to that purpose because of predatory dogs. The rough lands in the Ozark region of Illinois and Missouri ought to have thousands of flocks. Pennsylvania and West Virginia have millions of unimproved acres which would better be returning something in mutton and wool.

New England could restore fertility to the soil and get a greater income from her acres if the predatory dog did not preclude the keeping of sheep in so many places.

Early last year the federal bureau of animal industry received replies concerning sheep from county crop correspondents in northern states east of the Rocky mountains. In answering the question, "What prevents the keeping of sheep?" 339 answers gave dogs, while 376 mentioned other causes. When we see that "other causes" included such significant things as stomach worms, lack of experience with sheep, the intensifying of the dairy industry around large urban centers, lack of farm fencing and an unstable farm tenancy, we can begin to appreciate what a hindrance the predatory dog is to the sheep industry. In spite of the handicap under which sheep are kept, 302 replies declared that sheep raising is profitable, while 524 said that it is not. Were the chief factor in this handicap removed, see what a chance there would be to secure profitable returns from an industry on millions of acres not devoted to it at all at the present time.

some 20 per cent greater. The possibility of redeeming and restoring a badly infested orchard and maintaining it in good condition, with one or two sprayings a year, was well established by these operations,

PHOSPHATE FILED IS EXPLAINED

TENNESSEE IS OUTLINED BY MINE OWNER THERE.

Work Began in 1898 and Has Developed Steadily and to Large Proportions—Wasteful Methods First Used Have Been Improved.

(By John Ruhm, Mount Pleasant, Tennessee.)

In what is known as the Mt. Pleasant phosphate field in Tennessee the regular mining of phosphate rock was begun in 1898. The most convenient properties for handling and the best deposits were those near the town of Mt. Pleasant, the main shipping point in Tennessee, and as a result, while virgin deposits remain, large areas, especially along the main line of the railroad, have been "mined over."

As the phosphate deposits on these properties originally existed, they were in well-defined strata, covered only with clay and top soil, known as "overburden," but these strata rose and dipped to conform with the underlying limestone. Frequently limestone chimneys or "nigger heads" would raise the strata or penetrate through it, and again it would lie deep in the hollows of the strata. The deposits are in a rolling country and generally on the slopes and middle rises, those in the deeper valleys and water courses having been eroded. Some idea can be had from the accompanying sketch.

The phosphate stratum consists of first layers of irregular shape, more or less disintegrated, lying somewhat like a rough stone fence, with the interstices filled with finer particles, and frequently above and below the lump rock seam and in it are large deposits of the disintegrated material in the shape of phosphate sand or muck. This finer material, when separated, is of the same grade as the large lumps, and is filled with smaller lump, but clay and dirt have percolated through and mixed with it.

Until recent years all of the phosphate rock was mined by hand and only the lump saved, the overburden being first scrapped off or undercut, and dumped into the mined out places. With this overburden, top mark deposits were also removed and then the lump loosened with picks and taken out with forks, shaken so as to separate the lumps and leaving the finer particles and the muck in the mines. This lump rock was then hauled to kilns, where it was burned or spread out in the sun to dry. The dried material was broken and forked to clean it of the adhering fine particles and loaded into cars. Some of the operators had what were known as "log washers," in which the dried, forked material was washed, allowing the mud and sand to run off into sand or mud ponds.

The mining was done by negroes, who were paid so much a load, and frequently where the overburden was deep, and more especially when the deposit would lie in irregular limestone bottoms, they would only get the top lump, running over the deeper deposits and cutters, where the highest grade rock and heavy deposits of muck were frequently lying. In this shape the first mined portions were left and abandoned as "worked out."

Experimental washing in small quantities developed the fact that the sand and smaller particles, when properly cleaned, made a product of equal grade with the lump, but being saturated with clay and earth, and in the mined sections more or less mixed with overburden, the problem was how to separate this material so as to bring it up to a proper grade. Of course, the only conceivable method was by washing, but the finer particles would very largely pass off with the wash water and only a limited amount of the loose lump and the coarsest sand could be recovered. To do this it was necessary to dig and handle so large an amount of waste that the portion recovered was expensive.

The writer's company, which had been guilty of this early waste, but realized what was being thrown away, set about to devise means of overcoming this loss, and after years of experiment in a small way, finally developed and perfected a system now being used by them and by which they are able to practically and economically rework the "mined out" areas (as well as virgin deposits) and recover the large amount of material previously wasted.

It was found that after thoroughly washing the whole material and giving it a "scrubbing," the phosphate was separated from the mud in the water, but in the ordinary currents the finer particles remained in suspension. These particles, however, are of a slightly greater specific gravity than the clay and earth, and by passing the whole water in a course alternating downward and then upward, through a system of boxes made of proper dimensions, and the current properly regulated, practically all of the fine particles of phosphate of value are deposited and the mud and impurities pass in the wash water.

OAK RIDGE.

Will Collins of Burlingame spent Sunday with some of his relatives on the state road between Jacksonville and Alexander. On returning home he met with an accident on a hill near Grant's Mill bridge caused by the neckyoke giving way. As it was on a hill, the rig immediately overtook the horses, and both being young and high-spirited, they soon started running. The surry was run off to one side of the road and the pole was driven in the ground almost half its length. This caused the vehicle to stop all of a sudden, causing the single-trees to break. Mr. Collins, holding the lines, was thrown from the rig. Mrs. Collins and one or two of the five children were also thrown out, but as luck would have it, no one was anything but badly frightened. The horses at a few yards' distance had cleared themselves of everything but the harness. The first successful attempt in catching the horses was made about two miles from where the accident took place by Edward McCarty and W. T. Samples, two of the gentlemen of this precinct. The latter has proved to this neighborhood to be a real horse king. At the time of the happening he and his partner were engaged in driving a colt. Seeing the horses coming down the road, they immediately tied their colt to the fence and began making preparations. After the team was caught and the owner was found, the excitement was quieted considerably. Mr. Collins was very grateful for the boys' assistance. A pole was obtained of B. A. Johnson to replace the broken one and they again resumed their homeward journey.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

Improvement in Export Business Strengthens Wheat Prices Close Steady at a Net Advance—Other Leading Staples Score Net Gains.

Chicago, June 23.—Indications of a decided improvement in export business turned the wheat market today from weakness to strength. As a result, prices closed steady at 1% to 2% net advance. Other leading staples, too, all scored net gains—corn 1% to 2%, oats 1% to 1c and provisions 10c to 12c.

Reports that the Norwegian government had purchased 1,250,000 bushels of wheat at the seaboard proved especially influential in causing speculative shorts to rush to cover. Although word of the big sale to Norway did not receive entire credence among the usually best informed dealers, no doubt was expressed but that trans-Atlantic business had picked up and that Chicago handlers were disposing of some wheat destined for Europe. In this connection the fact was noticed that northwestern markets were active throughout the day, particularly Winnipeg where there has been a large foreign short interest. Assertions of disappointing threshing returns from Kansas and Missouri and of adverse crop conditions in North Dakota gave the bull side a further advantage late in the session.

Before the wheat market began to bulge prices had shown a disposition to sag owing to bearish cables. An estimate that India would yield 381,000,000 bushels this season as against 417,000,000 bushels last year formed one of the elements of the temporary depression. Selling drives here, however, were at no time severe.

Bad crop reports and the wheat rally brought about a strong finish in corn. One authority said referring to northern Illinois that the field prospect was the poorest in years and that ninety days of perfect weather would be required to make a good crop.

Oats developed firmness when other cereals tightened up. Country offerings of new oats were next to nothing.

COMING OF THE FORD TRACTOR TO REVOLUTIONIZE FARM WORK

Machine of Thirty Horse Power is Promised at Cost of $250—Auto Prices Show Downward Tendency.

The recent announcement in the Motor Age that Henry M. Ford will be coming year place on the market a Ford tractor is of great importance to the industrial world, but more especially to the farmer. C. N. Priest said yesterday that Mr. Ford, who has a farm of 1500 acres, has been experimenting for three years with the Ford tractor on his estate and has finally perfected it to such a degree that he is ready to offer it to the farmers of the United States. Demonstrating or model tractors will probably be available by September of this year, but the tractors will not be on the market before March, 1916. It is the claim of the Ford company, and claims by that company in the past, have always been supported by the facts. At the end of the first fiscal year, 1703 cars had been built. The factory payroll held the names of 311 employees. A branch house was established in New York City. At the close of the twelfth year (July 31, 1915), about 300,000 cars will have been made and sold within the year. There are 35 branches and 25 assembling plants (any one of which does more business annually than the entire business of the company in its first two years). 25,000 employees, with 18,000 on the factory payroll. Business first year, $1,000,000.00. Business for 1915, $150,000,000.

There is a Ford factory at Ford, Ontario, Canada, with a capacity of 35,000 cars annually, with 2,400 employees. There is a Ford factory in Manchester, England, with a capacity of 15,000 cars annually, 1,500 on the payroll.

There are 14 branches of the Ford Motor company located in foreign countries. Ford cars are driven in all of the principal countries of the world from sunny California to far Tibet and Siberia, from Alaska to Siam, and from Greenland to India—and in the isles of the seas—everywhere.

NUMINATING BOARD CHOOSES PHILADELPHIA FOR MEETING

Selection is Subject to Ratification of Convention of Advertising Clubs of the World Today.

Chicago, June 23.—Philadelphia was the unanimous choice of the nominating board for the next convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at a session today. The selection is subject to ratification tomorrow but the executive committee nomination is regarded as equivalent to election by the delegates to the convention. The greater part of the day was taken up by departmental meetings. Later a session of the convention was held at which committee reports from the various departments were presented. The educational movement in the line of advertising was the principle subject of discussion. President William Woodhead said this movement was bringing about the practical efficiency man as contrasted to the theoretical efficiency man of several years ago. The man who does advertising educational work, he said, is bettering mankind.

CARRANZA DECLARES HE WILL NOT COMPROMISE WITH OPPONENTS

Inform United States That He Will Continue His Plan to Crush His Adversaries by Military Campaign

Washington, June 23.—General Carranza has informed the United States government that under no circumstances will he treat with General Villa, that he will not compromise with his opponents and that he will continue his plan to crush his adversaries by military campaign. President Wilson had before him today a long report on General Carranza's views as given in formal conversation with an American consular officer at Vera Cruz. He found in it little hope for an accommodation of differences as between the Mexican factions. General Carranza gave the same argument for refusing to enter into peace negotiations with General Villa as he has made on previous occasions recently, reiterating that his was not a campaign for the elevation of personalities but for the principles of the revolution; that his opponents were "reactionaries and desirous only of satisfying personal ambitions."

Outlining his plans for the future, Carranza stated that he soon would dominate the situation and would grant amnesty to all who were not guilty of crimes. General Villa and his associates, however, according to Carranza, must either leave the country or be tried by a military court.

General Carranza's views did not surprise officials here as he has consistently ignored all offers of peace made by the Villa-Zapata faction as well as suggestions of foreign mediation in domestic affairs.

The Velle's Big Cut.

Automobilists are interested in the announcement of the Velle Motor Vehicle Co. of Moline, Ill. It is generally known that the Velle company would build a lower-priced six than the present "Blitwell" model at $1595.00, but the real interest centered in the specifications and features of the new car as the Velle is well known for its high quality, and the smaller six would be no exception to that standard.

The new Velle "Blitwell" has been announced and at a price of $1065.00.

The new Velle is large and roomy, 115-inch wheelbase, 4-inch tires, ample room for five passengers with every attention paid to the comfort and convenience of the driver. The motor is a six-cylinder, forty-horse power Continental—the latest type, with removable cylinder head. A unit power plant is used with multiple dry disc clutch and three-speed selective type transmission. The Hotchkiss type of drive is continued through a rear axle of floating type, with spiral bevel gears, all readily accessible and enclosed in a pressed steel housing.

Growth of the Ford.

June 16th, 1903, the Ford Motor company was officially born to the commercial life of the world.

At the end of the first fiscal year, 1703 cars had been built. The factory payroll held the names of 311 employees. A branch house was established in New York City.

At the close of the twelfth year (July 31, 1915), about 300,000 cars will have been made and sold within the year. There are 35 branches and 25 assembling plants (any one of which does more business annually than the entire business of the company in its first two years).

There is a Ford factory at Ford, Ontario, Canada, with a capacity of 35,000 cars annually, with 2,400 employees.

There is a Ford factory in Manchester, England, with a capacity of 15,000 cars annually, 1,500 on the payroll.

There are 14 branches of the Ford Motor company located in foreign countries. Ford cars are driven in all of the principal countries of the world from sunny California to far Tibet and Siberia, from Alaska to Siam, and from Greenland to India—and in the isles of the seas—everywhere.

NUMINATING BOARD CHOOSES PHILADELPHIA FOR MEETING

Selection is Subject to Ratification of Convention of Advertising Clubs of the World Today.

Chicago, June 23.—Philadelphia was the unanimous choice of the nominating board for the next convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at a session today. The selection is subject to ratification tomorrow but the executive committee nomination is regarded as equivalent to election by the delegates to the convention. The greater part of the day was taken up by departmental meetings. Later a session of the convention was held at which committee reports from the various departments were presented. The educational movement in the line of advertising was the principle subject of discussion. President William Woodhead said this movement was bringing about the practical efficiency man as contrasted to the theoretical efficiency man of several years ago. The man who does advertising educational work, he said, is bettering mankind.

CARRANZA DECLARES HE WILL NOT COMPROMISE WITH OPPONENTS

Washington, June 23.—General Carranza has informed the United States government that under no circumstances will he treat with General Villa, that he will not compromise with his opponents and that he will continue his plan to crush his adversaries by military campaign. President Wilson had before him today a long report on General Carranza's views as given in formal conversation with an American consular officer at Vera Cruz. He found in it little hope for an accommodation of differences as between the Mexican factions. General Carranza gave the same argument for refusing to enter into peace negotiations with General Villa as he has made on previous occasions recently, reiterating that his was not a campaign for the elevation of personalities but for the principles of the revolution; that his opponents were "reactionaries and desirous only of satisfying personal ambitions."

Outlining his plans for the future, Carranza stated that he soon would dominate the situation and would grant amnesty to all who were not guilty of crimes. General Villa and his associates, however, according to Carranza, must either leave the country or be tried by a military court.

General Carranza's views did not surprise officials here as he has consistently ignored all offers of peace made by the Villa-Zapata faction as well as suggestions of foreign mediation in domestic affairs.

MORE THAN MAJORITY FAVOR NEW WEST STATE PAVING

Proposition to Have Early Attention From City Officials—Improvement Board Change—South Main Street Pavement Talk.

While little publicity has been given the matter it is understood that more than a majority of the frontage of West State street property is represented on the petition for a new pavement. The matter will come before the board of local improvement probably at an early date and in view of the facts, the proposed improvement will doubtless be looked upon with favor. As the feeling in favor of the pavement is practically unanimous, court procedure can be pushed along more rapidly than if there was opposition.

A recent law passed by the legislature changes the makeup of the board of local improvement in cities under the commission form and after July first the board will be made up of three commissioners or all of the council. Mayor Rodgers indicated yesterday that here the plan likely to be followed is to have all of the council serve on the board of improvements, because, the mayor said, "they are all interested in this important matter of public improvement work."

A movement has been started also toward the paving of South Main street with tarvia, a material somewhat like asphalt but less expensive. Walter Loneragan has been a Tarvia company representative for several years and the paving material manufactured has proved very satisfactory in a great many cities.

INSURANCE CASE HEARD IN CIRCUIT COURT

Verdict Favors Prudential Insurance Co. in Suit Brought by Mrs. Todd—John Cox Will Declared Valid—Complainants in Case Not Represented in Court.

The greater part of the Wednesday session of the circuit court was taken up in the argument of the suit of Iva Lee Todd against the Prudential Life Insurance company. The jury after considering the evidence and the instructions of the court, returned a verdict finding in favor of the insurance company. The basis of the suit was a policy in the company held on the life of Edith Todd. It was set forth that the face of the policy was for $1,000 and that subsequent to the death of Edith Todd following an operation for appendicitis, through various allegations that the company effected a settlement with the beneficiary for $500. It was alleged that this settlement was secured by improper methods. The company made the claim that the settlement was in accordance with the accepted rules and provisions governing policies and that the full face of the policy was not paid because Edith Todd was not in a complete state of health when the policy was taken, as evidenced by the illness which followed not long after the issuance of the policy.

The jury which found the merits of the case with the company consisted of Elijah Henry, Charles Gray, J. G. Goveia, J. N. Deatherage, John B. Oliver, Robert Baptist, Jr., Oliver Stout, Edward Killian, George W. Fuhr, W. L. Shibe, W. H. Fuller and A. G. Burr.

H. G. Keplinger vs. Charles W. Foster, et al. foreclosure. Order for credit upon note and leave to withdraw note.

In the suit of Nancy Cox Bell et al. vs. George Cox et al., the jury decided that the document presented in court was the will of John Cox. The estate was represented by Worthington, Reeve and Green and T. F. Smith and the complainants did not appear in person or by counsel. It seems that the complainants had understood that the case had been continued and that their attorney, J. O. Priest, was in Winchester on business.

Common Law.

Roxanna Benson vs. Becker and Wade, trespass on the case. Leave to refile demurrer to second plea as demanded. Demurrer to second plea overruled. Leave to plaintiff to file three replications.
